CLICK OPEN IN NEW TAB

GRAYSON COLLEGE DATABASE LIST

The screenshot shows the Grayson College Library website. The browser address bar displays <https://grayson.edu/library/databases-a-to-z.html>. The page features a navigation menu with links for Foundation, Maps & Locations, Continuing Education, Athletics, Library, and Alumni. A secondary menu includes Current Students, Programs & Majors, Admissions and Aid, Directory, Student Life, and About Us. The main content area is titled "Browse Virtual Resources" and features a large graphic with the text "Articles & More" over an image of a person using a computer. Below the graphic, a text block explains that the library's electronic databases provide access to a wealth of digital content, including scholarly journal articles, periodicals, reference materials, e-books, multimedia, and reputable websites. It notes that these resources are only accessible to GC students, faculty, and staff with a My Viking ID and password. A section titled "A-Z Database List" contains a scrollable list of databases:

JSTOR

JSTOR is a digital library founded in 1995. Originally containing digitized back issues of academic journals, it now also includes books and primary sources, and current issues of journals. It provides full-text searches of almost 2,000 journals.

The screenshot shows the JSTOR homepage. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the JSTOR logo, "Advanced Search", "Browse", and "Tools" menus. On the right, there are links for "Login to My Account" and "Register". Below the navigation bar is a large search area with the heading "Journals, primary sources, and books". It features a search input field with the placeholder text "Search JSTOR" and a magnifying glass icon. Below the search field are links for "Advanced Search" and "Text Analyzer BETA". At the bottom of the search area, there are three promotional cards: "NEED ACCESS TO JSTOR?", "OPEN ACCESS CONTENT", and "DATA FOR RESEARCH". The footer of the page says "Explore JSTOR". A red arrow points from the left side of the image to the search input field.

Students' Learning Experiences in an Early College High School

Kennedy O. Ongaga

University of North Carolina Wilmington

Early College High Schools (ECHS) are at the forefront of high school reform embodying the principles of rigor, relationship, and relevance. This study examines students' learning experiences in the context of relationships and rigor at an ECHS. Specifically, I investigate factors that influence students to attend an ECHS, what they attribute to their academic success, and the challenges they experience. I draw upon data from individual and focus group interviews with students at one 3-year-old ECHS in southeastern North Carolina.

Like other small high school models, the Early College High School Initiative (ECHSI) started off with limited research to support its main principle: that the core high school curriculum could be compressed and successfully completed in 2 years. To date, much of ECHSI research has focused on the establishment and implementation of early college high schools (ECHS; American Institutes for Research [AIR] & SRI International, 2003; Shear et al., 2008; SRI International & AIR, 2002, 2005b). However, there is a paucity of research on students' learning experiences in

Social Media UPDATED!

Online social media platforms enable people to connect with others who share their interests. The types of media posted and exchanged by users of social media may include images, blog entries, videos, direct and group messages, podcasts, newsletters, or music. Social networking sites are a form of social media wherein users actively engage with their peers, followers, and the public in general. The popularity of social media sites has generated debate on a range of issues, from privacy and safety concerns to questions regarding the long-term societal effects of online interactions. Social networking sites emerged in the years following the introduction of the World Wide Web in 1991. Prior to the World Wide Web, computer users could connect with others...
